

What is claimed is:

CLAIMS

1. A method for transmitting data comprising:
 - a first frequency channel transmitting a first pulse position modulation signal;
 - a second channel transmitting a second pulse position modulation signal, wherein said data is alternatively encoded within the first pulse position modulation signal and the second pulse position modulation signal.